

NDI Announces Change of Ownership

WATERLOO, CANADA, December 21, 2007 - NDI announced today that they have completed a transaction to sell a controlling interest of NDI to Audax Group.

Audax Group, founded in 1999 with offices in Boston and New York, is a leading investor in middle market companies. Audax is excited to invest in NDI given NDI's solid financial performance and significant growth opportunities. For more information visit the Audax Group website at www.audaxgroup.com.

NDI expects little or no change to the day-to-day operation of the Company. The current NDI leadership team is staying intact with the exception of Jim Kearns, C.O.O. and David Crouch, President & C.E.O., who plan to transition out of the business within the next year. As such, NDI and Audax Group have begun the recruitment for these Executive responsibilities.

The NDI team looks forward to working with Audax Group to build on NDI's successes of the past twenty-six years and to ensure NDI's continued leadership in the development of measurement innovations.

About NDI

Headquartered in Waterloo, Canada with offices in Germany and Hong Kong, NDI celebrated its 25th anniversary in 2006. The company is the world's leading provider of innovative measurement technology with applications that range from imaged-guided surgery to biomechanics and human motion capture to portable metrology solutions for the shop floor.

See www.ndigital.com for more information about NDI products and services.